"If you're willing to work hard, there is no limit to the money you can make. The foreman are both knowledgeable and helpful, and are there to guide you in the beginning. Once you are comfortable on your own they give you the freedom to do things yourself... Working outside was a big plus... Overall it was an awesome summer experience for me."

- Jordan Macdonald, 2009 Planter

"If you approach this job with the knowledge that it is hard work, and that you will get dirty and tired, there are not many better summer jobs out there. Being physically fit is important, but the most rigorous aspect of this job is mental exhaustion. If you're the type of person who is able to focus mentally and physically while still enjoying being outdoors and pressing your body to its limits, I would certainly recommend you try your hand at tree planting." - Ben Gehrels, 2009 Planter
